

Siguri Gold IPO – Investor Update

Siguri Gold Corporation (proposed ASX code SGD, “Siguri Gold” or the “Company”) provides an update on its Initial Public Offering (IPO) and listing on the Australian Securities Exchange (ASX).

As noted in its Investor Update dated 3 September 2024, a condition of the IPO Prospectus approved by the Australian Securities and Investments Commission (ASIC) requires the issue of certain permits applied for or subject to renewal by the Company prior to listing.

As the permits may be issued after the expiry of the IPO Prospectus on 1 October 2024, the Company intends to lodge a Supplementary Prospectus to extend the original expiry date. This Supplementary Prospectus is required to be lodged by 1 October 2024. This is a necessary step for the Company to guard against any delays in the approval of its permit and renewal applications.

The Company remains confident that its applications will be approved, and any delays, as previously advised, are only due to a review of Guinea’s mining title system by the Ministry of Mines and Geology.

Despite the positive response to the IPO, the Company acknowledges that extending the expiry of the original prospectus due to permit delays may lead some investors to reassess their decision to invest. Consequently, the Company will revisit the terms of the IPO, which will be reflected in the Supplementary Prospectus.

The Company’s Board and management continue to work towards a successful IPO and the goal of developing the Siguri Gold Project.
